From America To Spain

Rock Island student, Melissa Hagerty, applied to be a Rotary Youth Exchange student during her junior year, and missed her senior year in Rock Island to be a student and experience life in Santander, Spain. Melissa states, "The worst part of missing my senior year is not being a part of Rocky's band program and missing all the 'lasts' with my friends. Overall, my experience in Spain is definitely worth it. Thanks to Rotary, I'm diving into another culture, experiencing more than I could imagine, and learning a lot about myself along the way."

Some of the most beautiful sights to see in the Quad Cities are right along the Mississippi River. These sights include the rocky shore, the setting and rising of the sun on opposite sides of the river, and many other extraordinary and powerful views. The wonderful gem that the Mississippi is has been overlooked by many living in the area. The uniqueness of the river is unmatched by other views in the area.

Haskill ONE in 44,000

Over the summer of 2015, Rocky junior Logan Haskill had the incredible opportunity to receive a $5,000 scholarship, and attend the Pay It Forward Academy in Atlanta, Georgia. "There were only 22 students chosen out of 44,000 nominations," Haskill said. While there, he got to meet Steve Harvey, Judge Glenda Hatchett, attend journalism seminars, and tour the CNN World Headquarters. "It was definitely a unique opportunity," he remarked. He did not get there without help from the community, however! "I had to go through a voting process, and it was cool to hear about the community supporting me by voting," he said. Great job, Logan!

On a Mission for God

Every year, the South Park Presbyterian Church's youth group goes on a mission trip to an area in need. This year's destination was Louisville, Kentucky. From working in soup kitchens, to helping out in homes for underprivileged kids, students like Annika Hong make a big difference. "I enjoy helping people, and making a difference in people's lives," she stated enthusiastically. "I've been doing it since I was eleven, and it's really inspiring to know that I can make that big of an impact on other people's lives." Youth group members usually go on these trips multiple times during their time at the church. "I've gone on five mission trips. They've all been amazing experiences, and I've made some really great memories," Annika said, taking a trip down memory lane. To only be a junior in high school, and already be so enthusiastic about helping people is a truly admirable trait.

A Year In The USA

Iryna Komarova

A foreign exchange student from Cherkasy, Ukraine, spent her junior year studying in America. Ira explains, 'I was nervous and excited to live in America for a year, but I knew this was an experience I couldn't pass up. Being a foreign exchange student means I not only share my culture with others, but get to learn all I can about a new one.'

Ira stayed involved at Rocky by joining the Girls' Tennis Team, Softball, Key Club, and German Club. Her host sisters were Iris Johnson, senior, and Lilly Johnson, sophomore. 'We loved having Ira!' both sisters stated. 'Hosting Ira has made this year one to never forget. She's practically family now. We'll always stay in touch.'

PUSHING into APUSH

JaMeiah Davis

"The class itself isn't very difficult, it's more the book comprehension. I've grown so used to things being explained to me that I was not prepared for a college level textbook. It also made me realize I do not have the best test taking skills."

Dakota Heffernan

"APUSH is hard. It really is a difficult class, and it's probably the first time I've truly struggled in a class. Although APUSH is difficult, I'm learning more than just a recap of stuff I've learned before, and I like that."

Zach Mlekush

"It's difficult, but I think it's a good way to learn how to take tough classes, and take tough tests like that, so you're not super confused in college."

"My favorite Marching Band memory is singing Alma Mater at 3am in the band room after a competition at the University of Illinois."

"My favorite memory is just being together with everyone, especially at Valleyfest. We won, and then everyone was so happy, and it was so much fun."
- Zach Mlekush

Sophomores' Favorite Fictional Characters

"I love Daenerys Targaryen, from Game of Thrones, because she is strong willed, as well as brave. I also love Westley, from Princess Bride, because he is loyal, kind, and keeps his promises to those he loves."

- Kaiya Goodman

"My favorite fictional character is Amos from the musical, "Chicago", because he's so forgiving and charismatic."

- Zach Mlekush

"One of my favorite fictional characters would definitely have to be Dr. Spencer Reid from Criminal Minds. Why? Because he is everything I aspire to be, plus, he's pretty adorable."

- Zoe Yates

"I'd have to say one of my favorite fictional characters is Ruby, from The Darkest Minds, because she reacts to situations like a normal human being. It makes her more real."

- Grace Potratz

"I have a couple favorites, all of which are cartoons. I like SCOOBY DOO because he's funny, Tweety Bird, because he's cute, Tom, from Tom and Jerry, because I love cats, and he's a trickster, and Jerry, because he always outsmarts Tom."

I Look ↑ To

Underclassmen explain who their upperclassmen role models are in their academics and sports.

SOPHIA THOMER says that she looks up to Junior, Emma Knuckey. Emma is never in trouble, and motivates her to work hard in all of her classes and sports.

CLAIRE MCKAY says that she looks up to senior, Haley Sigel. Haley is really passionate about her sport, and puts in a lot of time and effort towards it. She is a good leader for the program. She also is a great student, and has great ambition for the future.

OLIVER MCDOWELL says that he looks up to seniors, Tre Nimmers and Doug Wilson. They are both hard workers, and they are dedicated to what they do.

BRYCE KENT says that he looks up to junior, Jake Ellis. Jake gives 100% in all of his sports, and he pushes himself to be the best he can be. He also pushes himself in the classroom, and is a good example of a student athlete.

DELLANEY ANDERSON says that she looks up to senior, Annika Anderson. Not only is Annika he sister, she is als her supporter. Annika never gives up on anything, and is a role model on the court and in the classroom.

Peace Out, Boy Scout

Andrew Beierlein's favorite part about Boy Scouts is the adventure. "It is really awesome going different places, and it's not something you do often," explains Andrew. He has been on three big adventure trips in Michigan, Wisconsin, and West Virginia. Scouts have to live by the Scout Law and Oath. "I do my best every day to live by it, but it's harder than you think," Beierlein states. He does his best by being nice and accepting everyone. He does what he can to help anyone in any way. He started off as a Cub Scout in the first grade, and then crossed over to a Boy Scout in sixth grade. Andrew says, "The hardest part of being a Boy Scout is doing the requirements to rank up, or the Eagle required merit badges you need to do if you want to be an Eagle Scout." Andrew is working towards becoming an Eagle Scout, just like his brother, Jakob.

Sophomore SUPERSTARS

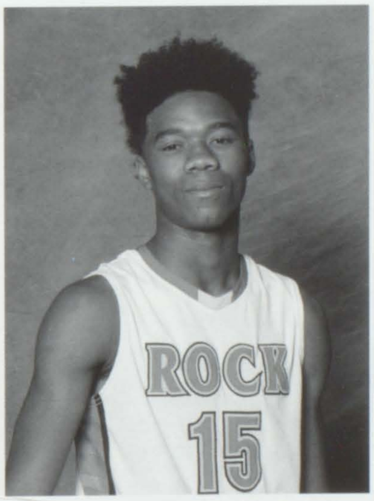
Bryce Kent is a leader and starter on the Varsity Boys' Soccer Team. Bryce feels that he needs to go into every game confident. Bryce explains, "I benefit from playing up because it pushes me to work harder, get stronger, and I get to play with kids my age and kids older than me." The hardest part to Bryce about playing up is everyone is older, so they have an advantage of growing first. Bryce wants to continue working hard to get better, and reach his goals on the field.

Bryce Kent

"Bryce knows the game really well. He's a very smart player, and sees the field as a whole. The team feels comfortable with him as a leader. For a player to show those qualities as an underclassman shows the learning and work he's put into the game."
- Coach Kent



Lacey Watson

"Lacey has been able to fill different roles for us this year. He plays with a lot of energy, and he's still learning some things, but I think we see him continuing to improve. If he keeps that up and keeps working, it means he's going to be expected to be one of our leaders for the next two years."
- Coach Sigel

Lacey Watson shows his hard work and determination by starting on the Varsity Boys' Basketball Team. As a sophomore, Lacey knows that he has big challenges playing with, and against the older boys. He believes that his role is to bring energy to the team. "The hardest part of playing up is trying to prove that you belong and deserve to be there," he explained. His main focus is the team as a whole. "I believe if you have heart and the drive, you can play at any level," he states. Lacey is determined to do big things on the court.

Community Service that is Twice the Reward

Amber and Amy Haskill are two freshmen, who have made their mark on the community by starting a charity organization called Closet to Closet. According to Amber, "It's for foster kids who are still in foster care, and are in need of clothing because they have lost it while moving." She also added, "They come four times a year to a yearly event, where they can shop for free because it's for them." The organization started while the twins were still in junior high, and has gained publicity since. But, these girls aren't in it for the popularity. Amy remarked that she likes it because, "We're providing clothes for foster children and we're helping. It used to be our life, and now we're giving back to the system." Not only are these girls giving back, but they're showing a rocking spirit for helping others!

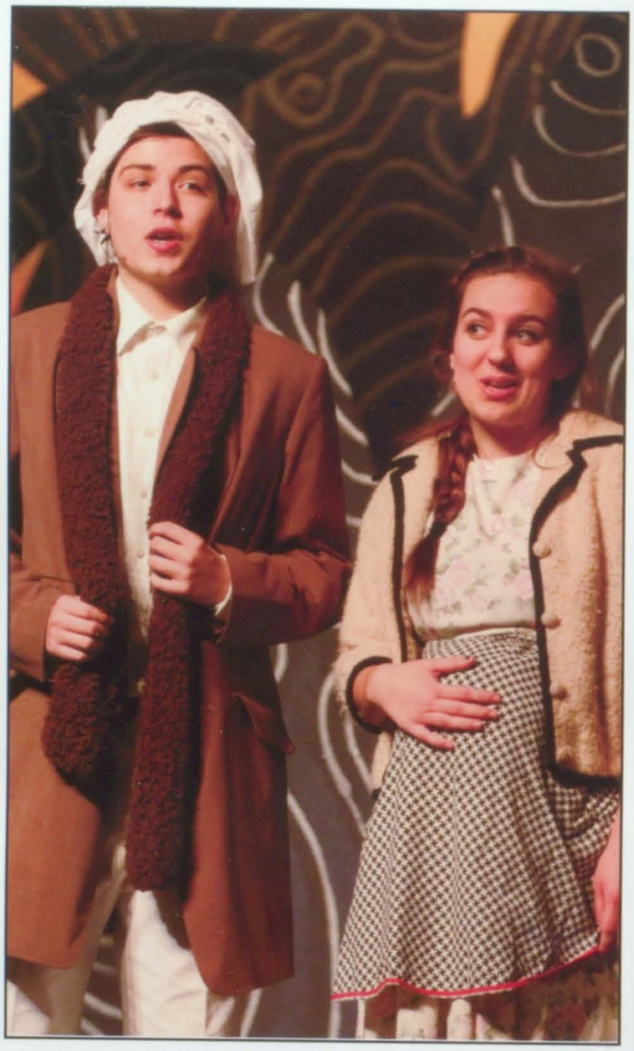
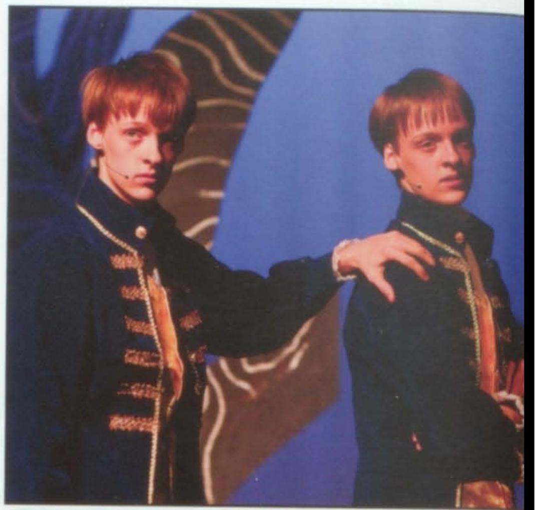
James Delvechhio and Molly Reitano potray their joy as the Baker and his wife are finally starting their family after lifting the curse.

Twins, Kyle Nordmann and Cole Nordmann gained many laughs from the audience as Cinderella's Prince (Kyle) and Rapunzel's Prince (Cole). Their duet "Agony" was brilliant.





Evil Stepsiter, Florinda, played by Chloe Hrabusicky struggles to put on Cinderella's golden slipper as her evil stepmother, Emylia Bouc trys to help her. Chloe and Emilya captured the evilness of Cinderella's step-family perfectly! "Potraying an evil character was a new challenge but I had a lot of fun with it," says Chloe on her role.

DANCE TEAM

Grace,

Words cannot describe the joy you have brought into our lives. From that temper-tantrum throwing, stubborn little three year old to the strong-willed, determined young woman you are today…you have always made us smile with pride! You are a beautiful, funny, smart, hard-working and caring person and we have enjoyed being part of these last four years watching you grow (and dance!). You have always been a leader rather than a follower and because of this you've accomplished much and have a lot to be proud of; and we know as you head off to college you will continue to make us proud! As you move to this next chapter of your life and experience all that it has to offer, remember to stay true to the things that matter most in life, your faith and your family. Let God guide you through the difficulties and know that we too love you and will always be here for you for love, support and advice. Congratulations and God bless you, Grace Anne! We love you forever and always!

Emily Bertelsman

We are so proud of the young lady you have become.

As you move into the next chapter of your life be a silent, living example of a Christ-guided life. Strive for excellence but be happy wherever you are on that journey. Dream big dreams and expect good things to happen. Don't run from the discomfort of growth. Step out of your box. Have clear goals and written plans for today. Be confident enough to frequently acknowledge you are not perfect. Laugh at yourself first and loudest.

Accept people and make them feel great about what they do right-they'll probably return the favor. Don't compete with your friends; celebrate their victories whole-heartedly. Don't take yourself to seriously. If you delay your happiness until things are perfect-you'll be waiting awhile. Enjoy your life today and love yourself.

If you don't have a map to where you're going, you'll likely end up lost.

Remember we love you-A LOT! Regardless of life's ups and downs your family will ALWAYS be at your side. You are a brave, determined, talented, intelligent, beautiful woman. We're very proud of you.

Love,
Mom and Dad
